Picnic Dinner and Centers

Families gathered for a picnic dinner of hotdogs, chips and grapes to begin our family night. While everyone was eating I went over the different centers and punch cards to earn incentives based on camping and fishing.

Centers included making story puppets, fishing for rhymes, making and writing about s'mores, playing a family game, and the most popular one - reading at our very awesome campsite. I darkened the library, set up tents and star/northern light projectors along with the "fireplaces" and pretend s'more making kit and the flashlights for reading. Families were encouraged to read together and share in the fun! Students were asking to go into the library to read multiple times and definitely enjoyed the s'more making. It was excellent seeing siblings and parents help with the writing and engaged together throughout the night.

Volunteers helped man each station and gave punches on cards at each center participants completed. Once each participant completed 4 centers they traded the card for a ticket to be drawn for various items of camping and fishing gear.

Reading Under the Night Sky

It was a great night and lots of families loved eating dinner, reading and playing games together!
